Basic Info

Modular Building Construction: Oilfield Trailers, Wellsite Trailers, Portable Work Camps and Portable Offices.

Our planners and designers, through consultation with our clients, have created portable offices, wellsite trailers, base camps and other worksite accommodations that solve the needs for the majority of customers running remote worksites and camp accommodations in the oil, gas, forestry, construction, mining, and transportation industries.

Our structures are built to be highly portable, rugged, comfortable and largely self-contained. Units carry their own fresh water, separate septic holds, propane and can be fitted on durable skids that allow the building to be placed on any flat ground without the necessity of pre-building foundations.
